

President Ends Period Of Hostilities At Noon Today

By DOUGLAS E. CORNELL
Washington, Dec. 31 (AP)—President Truman ended today the period of hostilities of the second world war.

He left intact, however, the state of emergency declared by the late President Roosevelt before the United States went to war and he said that today's action does not end "the state of war itself."

Recommendations will go to Congress in the near future, Mr. Truman told a news conference, with respect to cancelling the national emergency and ending the state of war.

Some Laws To Die
His proclamation ending hostilities, effective at noon today, did erase from the statute books at once 20 wartime laws.

Still others will automatically die six months from today unless Congress acts to continue them. One of these is the Smith-Connally Anti-Strike act under which the government has seized strike-bound plants and mines.

Another is the law under which wartime leases of silver held or owned by the United States is permitted.

"Cooperating With Congress"
In a few instances, Mr. Truman said, statutes affected by the proclamation give the government certain powers he believes should be continued in peacetime, or at least for the remainder of the period of reconversion.

In these instances, the President said, he will ask Congress for additional legislation.

Under questioning as to whether this was a step in his promise to cooperate with the new Republican-controlled Congress, the President said that this was cooperating with Congress.

The President emphasized that the termination of the period of hostilities did not have the effect of terminating the state of war itself.

"Emergency" Goes On
Nor, he said, does it terminate the state of emergency declared by President Roosevelt on September 8, 1939 and May 27, 1941.

"With respect to the termination of the national emergency and the state of war I shall make recommendations to the Congress in the near future," his formal statement, read to the reporters, concluded.

Among other things, the President said that his action would terminate the life of the Smith-Connally Anti-Strike act six months from today.

The time has come, Mr. Truman said at one point during an exchange with reporters, when the executive branch should give up some of the powers exercised during the war.

"This is entirely in keeping with the policies which I have consistently followed," he said (reading again from his statement) "in an effort to bring our economy and our government back to a peacetime basis as quickly as possible."

BULLETINS

Washington, Dec. 31 (AP)—President Truman's proclamation terminating hostilities may automatically reduce the nation's 1947 tax bill by approximately $700,000,000.

Colin B. Starn, expert of the joint Congressional committee on Internal Revenue told reporters that, under Mr. Truman's action, excise levies—including those on liquor, jewelry, furs, luggage and many other consumer items—will be cut back effective July 1. The tax on liquor will drop from $9 to $6 a proof gallon.

Harrisburg, Dec. 31 (AP)—Pennsylvania's Justice Department began an immediate survey today of the Commonwealth's wartime laws to determine the effect of President Truman's proclamation officially ending World War II.

Washington, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Times-Herald said today in a copy-right story that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was reported "ready to run for President in 1948 if the people want him."

London, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Daily Mail and Daily Telegraph said in Washington dispatches today that the United States and Great Britain had taken definite steps toward creation of "an Anglo-American airforce."

Lake Success, N. Y., Dec. 31 (AP)—The United States formally proposed today that the Security Council take up the problem of atomic control first in its quest for worldwide arms limitation.

CLUB REVIEWS RECORD FOR '46
The extension of Rotary ideals of service to world politics as a substitute for the present apparent "ideals of gain" was described Monday night a desirable "hope for 1947" at the regular meeting of Rotary held in the YWCA.

Reviewing the activities of the past year, the members found that most Rotarians had served not only the club well but had served in varying capacities in innumerable other organizations and committees devoted to the welfare of the community.

They pledged for 1947 as a New Year's resolution even greater efforts to serve "Adams county, our state and our country."

New Year's gifts were exchanged under the direction of Philip M. Jones with the gifts including such things as income tax books, toy animals and even a hair wave set. The gifts were scheduled to be "some good luck piece that will be a memento during the coming year."

Forty-eight members and guests were present. The president, Dr. Chester Gitt, presided.

CORRECTION

A transposition of "Volume-Number" lines in the masthead of The Gettysburg Times recently indicated a greater number of editions during the year. The "Volume-Number" line today, Vol. 44, No. 310-B is correct, except for the "B" suffix which is used so as not to conflict with the regular Volume number 310. Monday's Times also carried a suffix letter so as not to conflict with the previous number.

COMPOSER DIES
Los Angeles, Dec. 31 (AP)—Charles Wakefield Cadman, 65, composer of "The Land of the Sky Blue Water," "At Dawning," and other popular musical numbers died here last night. He was one of the founders and directors of the Hollywood Bowl, and formerly music critic of the Pittsburgh Dispatch. He was born in Johnstown, Pa.

Mahlon P. Hartzell Ends 47 Years Of Railroad; Began Last Run This Morning

When "Cap" Hartzell steps down from the caboose of the afternoon freight from Harrisburg "on the old G. and H." this afternoon, close to a half century of railroading will come to an end for this Reading railroad veteran who has been punching tickets and shuffling way-bills since November 17, 1899.

"All things sooner or later must come to an end—so after 47 years and 44 days my railroading has reached that point," Mr. Hartzell commented.

Mahlon P. Hartzell, Sr., was born just west of Gettysburg in a house which stood adjacent to the McPherson barn, on the battlefield. A brother went into railroading, and Hartzell's future was thus written in the books. He followed the same calling, first as a freight brakeman, in May, 1901, a freight conductor, and then on April 10, 1912, a passenger conductor.

Intended To Farm
"I went into railroading to get enough money to buy a farm," Mr. Hartzell says. "I never got the farm."

An accident in 1913 which caused him the loss of part of a foot laid him up for six months and ended the dream of ever operating a farm.

It was the "end of the run" today for Mr. Hartzell. "I have been thinking about retiring for several months," he said. "Then I decided to give up railroading at the end of the year. This is it." Mr. Hartzell said he had no plans. He'll "take it easy" at his home, 46 East Lincoln avenue. There won't be any more early rising to be at the Reading station here and cry "all board" at 5:45 o'clock each morning except Sunday as the daily passenger train pulls out for Harrisburg.

Mr. Hartzell worked out of Gettysburg for the first two years of his railroading career, and then moved to Harrisburg when his runs took him from that city to Hagerstown and Martinsburg, W. Va. After about four years there he returned to Gettysburg and has resided here ever since. He has been a member of the Gettysburg school board for 25 years and secretary for a greater part of that time. He is first vice president of the Gettysburg Lions club.

Has Seen Many Changes
Mr. Hartzell says many changes have taken place in railroading since he first started. The capacity of freight cars has increased from 30,000 pounds to 110,000 pounds. Coal cars carry 140,000 pounds now (Please turn to Page 2)

Signed by Claude A. Snyder, president of the borough council, the property transfer carries out the proposed program of turning over the Littlestown water system to the authority in order that it might carry out plans to complete building of the sewer system in Littlestown. The indenture was filed with the certificate of incorporation of the Littlestown Borough Authority.

Other deeds recorded disclose the sale of three tracts totaling 65 acres in Berwick township, by Edward and Ida A. Markle, Abbottstown, to Roxie and John W. Sager, Berwick township. Hit Parked Truck Wayne Morris Phelps, Baltimore, driver of the Green Spring Dairy truck, parked it on the highway about 9 o'clock on the night of November 30, 1945, according to the statement which claims Phelps did not mark the truck with lights or flares. Early in the morning of December 1, according to the statement, Musselman crashed into the rear of the parked truck.

TO DECIDE SOON ABOUT '47 FAIR
Whether the South Mountain Fair will be revived in 1947 will be decided in the near future, P. S. Orner, Arendtsville, president of the fair associated, indicated today.

Quarled on whether the association is planning to revive the fair that up until the beginning of the war was an annual feature of Adams county life, President Orner said he plans to discuss with other interested members of the association the advisability of starting the affair once again.

"It is pretty hard to know yet whether or not the fair will be started again," Orner added. "There is a lot of work to do and it will cost a lot of money to restore the fair-ground to the condition of that obtained a few years ago. If the others want a meeting I'll call it within the very near future and then we can determine whether there is still enough interest and willingness to do the job necessary to go ahead with the fair."

M. E. Khouss, chairman of the executive committee of the fair, said today that he "saw no reason why the fair could not be started once more," but added that "it takes a lot of work and we'll have to determine whether there is enough interest to warrant continuing the affair."

The fair was a feature of Adams county's agricultural life for two decades until the war caused its cancellation in 1942.

Almost a hundred more licenses were issued during the entire year of 1946 than during all of 1945 statistics further reveal. The total for this year including today, is 294. The 1945 total was 195. In 1944 a total of 140 marriage licenses were issued.

Mahlon P. Hartzell Ends 47 Years Of Railroadng; Began Last Run This Morning

When "Cap" Hartzell steps down from the caboose of the afternoon freight from Harrisburg "on the old G. and H." this afternoon, close to a half century of railroadng will come to an end for this Reading railroad veteran who has been punching tickets and shuffling way-bills since November 17, 1899.

"All things sooner or later must come to an end—after 47 years and 44 days my railroadng has reached that point," Mr. Hartzell commented.

Mahlon P. Hartzell, Sr. was born just west of Gettysburg in a house which stood adjacent to the McPherson barn, on the battlefield. A brother went into railroadng, and Hartzell's future was thus written in the books. He followed the same calling, first as a freight brakeman, in May, 1901, a freight conductor and then on April 10, 1912, a passenger conductor.

"I went into railroadng to get enough money to buy a farm," Mr. Hartzell says. "I never got the farm." An accident in 1913 which caused him the loss of part of a foot laid him up for six months and ended the dream of ever operating a farm. It was the "end of the run" today for Mr. Hartzell. "I have been thinking about retiring for several months," he said. "Then I decided to give up railroadng at the end of the year. This is it." Mr. Hartzell said he had no plans. He'll "take it easy" at his home, 46 East Lincoln avenue. There won't be any more early rising to be at the Reading station here and cry "all board" at 5:45 o'clock each morning except Sunday as the daily passenger train pulls out for Harrisburg.

Mr. Hartzell worked out of Gettysburg for the first two years of his railroadng career, and then moved to Harrisburg when his runs took him from that city to Hagers-town and Martinsburg, W. Va. After about four years there he returned to Gettysburg and has resided here ever since. He has been a member of the Gettysburg school board for 25 years and secretary for a greater part of that time. He is first vice president of the Gettysburg Lions club.

Has Seen Many Changes

Mr. Hartzell says many changes have taken place in railroadng since he first started. The capacity of freight cars has increased from 30,000 pounds to 110,000 pounds. Coal cars carry 140,000 pounds now (Please turn to Page 2)

Change Date Of 'Hans Brinker' To January 10

Postponement of the Clare Tree Major Children's Theatre production, "Hans Brinker or the Silver Skates," from January 8 to Friday, January 10, was announced today by Mrs. Henry M. Scharf, member of the Gettysburg Woman's club committee in charge of the production here. A conflict in dates made the change necessary, Mrs. Scharf said.

The dramatization of the famous children's story by Mary Mapes Dodge, will be presented in the Majestic theatre under the sponsorship of the Woman's club for the benefit of the Sister Kenny fund. Patrons' and children's tickets for the performance are on sale.

5 EMMITSBURG RESIDENTS SUE ON CRASH CLAIM

The statement of claim in a damage suit brought by five Emmitsburg residents against the Green Spring dairy of Baltimore and Clyde W. Musselman, Fairfield, was filed Monday afternoon at the office of the court prothonotary by Attorney J. Francis Yake, Jr.

The plaintiffs in the action in trespass are George Sanders, Emmitsburg, his two daughters, Elizabeth and Loretta Sanders and Jennie Motter and Mary Bowman, also of Emmitsburg.

According to the statement, the suit has been brought to secure payment of medical bills, compensation for pain, suffering and loss of work on the part of the four Emmitsburg women caused when a car driven by Musselman, in which they were passengers, collided with a milk truck owned by the Baltimore dairy five and a half miles west of Emmitsburg in Liberty township at 1:30 o'clock on the morning of December 1, 1945.

Hit Parked Truck

Wayne McKissick Phelps, Baltimore, driver of the Green Spring Dairy truck, parked it on the highway about 9 o'clock on the night of November 30, 1945, according to the statement which claims Phelps did not mark the truck with lights or flares. Early in the morning of December 1, according to the statement, Musselman crashed into the rear of the parked truck.

Elizabeth Starker is seeking damages for shock, pain and discomfort caused by bruises and abrasions of the body and right knee, and for loss of work after her majority. The girl was 15 at the time of the accident. Loretta Sanders is seeking a sum for shock, pain and suffering, medical expenses and loss of work after 21. The 16-year-old girl suffered a fracture of the left leg, lacerations of the face, cuts and brush burns. She was thrown from the car to the highway when the truck and car collided.

George Sanders is seeking to recover for medical expenses paid out for his daughters and an estimated loss of wages until the girls reach 21.

Jennie Motter, who suffered bruises, abrasions and a deep flesh wound of the right thigh which, according to the statement, has resulted in a stiffness of the right hip is seeking damages. Mary Bowman, who lists bruises, abrasions, shock and a broken tooth among her injuries according to the statement, will require future plastic surgery which she says will be needed to restore her face.

TO DECIDE SOON ABOUT '47 FAIR

Whether the South Mountain Fair will be revived in 1947 will be decided in the near future, P. S. Orner, Arendtsville, president of the fair associated, indicated today.

Queried on whether the association is planning to revive the fair that up until the beginning of the war was an annual feature of Adams county life, President Orner said he plans to discuss with other interested members of the association the advisability of starting the affair once again.

"It is pretty hard to know yet whether or not the fair will be started again," Orner added. "There is a lot of work to do and it will cost a lot of money to restore the fair-ground to the condition of that obtained a few years ago. If the others want a meeting I'll call it within the very near future and then we can determine whether there is still enough interest and willingness to do the job necessary to go ahead with the fair."

M. E. Knouse, chairman of the executive committee of the fair, said today that he "saw no reason why the fair could not be started once more," but added that "it takes a lot of work and we'll have to determine whether there is enough interest to warrant continuing the affair."

Snow Hampering
Air Crash Probe
Michigan City, Ind., Dec. 30 (P)—
An investigation of the crash of an American air lines plane in which two crew members were killed and 19 other persons injured continued today despite a heavy snow which hampered tent-housed probes.
The Buffalo-to-Chicago plane
crash-landed in International Garden killing the pilot Fred M. Hamm, Jr., Chicago and the co-pilot, Harmon E. Ring, Muscatine, Iowa,
after they had radioed the Chicago operations office the plane developed motor trouble.
Representatives of the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the airline company set up a tent near the wreckage to investigate the accident.
Herbert Shebat, of Chicago, representing the CAB, said a formal hearing would be held in about a week at Chicago when evidence obtained here would be heard. He said
a formal report on the accident
would be issued later at Washington.
3 FLOGGINGS STIR HOLY LAND
Jerusalem, Dec. 30 (P)—The British military announced today that all Jewish communities along the Palestine coast had been placed out of bounds to the 30,000 British troops on duty in the area, as authorities pressed a search for the kidnappers who abducted a British major and three sergeants last night and gave each 18 lashes in what was described as a retaliatory move.
A military source predicted that authorities, fearing British troops might seek vengeance for the floggings, would keep the ruling in force at least until after New Year's.
Eve. The provost marshal's office said that "feeling is running high"
in the military camps.
Jewish agency sources expressed regret for the floggings.
Meanwhile the British ship, Ocean
Vigour, arrived in Haifa harbor, bringing 750 Jewish refugees who were deported to Cyprus when they originally arrived here without immigration certificates.
Search for the perpetrators of last night's floggings continued, with British authorities and Palestine
police participating in the manhunt.
Authorities said that the major was whisked away by five armed men from the lounge of the Hotel Metropol in Nathanya, 40 miles north of Tel Aviv, where he was sitting with his wife. He was said to have been blindfolded, tied to a rack and beaten with a cane.

Michael Donnellan, a young farm hand who lives across a small creek
from the island, said:
"I was called by the boss about 2:15 a.m. I had just got out of bed when I heard three loud reports like a shotgun. When I dressed and went out of the house I saw a straight line of fire from the burning plane on the island."
"The next thing I heard was a baby screaming (the four-months old son of Mrs. Edith Delaby Waterbury, French GI bride). I heard people crying and shouting for help."
TWA officials reported last night that two of the survivors, Capt. Herbert Tansey, the pilot, and Dudley Hill, a crew member, had taken a turn for the worse. Tansey's condition was described as "very critical." Officials said the nine other survivors spent "a comfortable night."
Pretty blonde Vina Ferguson, 25-
year-old hostess, lauded by rescuers
as the "heroine" of the disaster, described the crash as "just one horrible bump and a little jiggling around."

BUILDING COST
TO INCREASE IN COMING YEAR
By STERLING F. GREEN
(Substituting For James Marlow)
Washington, Dec. 30 (P)—What will it cost to build a new house
in 1947? More, or course.
Boiled down, these are the views
of some government and industry
officials here:
A disproportionately large number of $12,000 to $15,000 houses will be started in the next few months.
But not all building will be concentrated in the higher-price class.
And costs are likely to start coming down sometime in the year.
Materials Up 26.8 Per Cent
These are just opinions because no official estimate exists. The Federal housing administration is assembling figures now, and expects to have something fairly authoritative
in a week or two.
Meanwhile, here are some of the factors which put a big question-mark over the future of housing costs.
The average price of building materials has risen 20.8 per cent in the last six months. Since Nov. 9 alone the general rise has been 7.9
per cent, and lumber has soared
nearly 15 per cent.
Larger Houses Ahead
Those are factory prices. In other words, they don't include the increased mark-up which is tacked on by dealers and contractors. And materials amount to 45 per cent of the total cost of a house, including lot. Labor costs represent 30 per cent of the total, and they have been rising too.
Here's another invitation to higher costs: The new limit of 1,500
square feet permits the construction of homes about 50 per cent larger than could be built in most cities
under the $10,000 limit.
The bigger the house, the bigger the builder's profit. Therefore many builders will go in for higher-cost dwellings as long as a market exists.
And the market is likely to exist
for quite a while.

Dr. Hetzel Marks 20th Anniversary
State College, Pa., Dec. 30 (P)—
One of Pennsylvania's most urgent problems is training more men and women capable of assuming leadership, Dr. Ralph Hetzel declared today as he marked his 20th year as president of the Pennsylvania State college.
Dr. Hetzel said "our own state, if it is to keep pace economically and industrially with others, must have an educational agency whose major objective is service to the people of the Commonwealth and their interests."
Former head of the University of New Hampshire before becoming Penn State's president, Dr. Hetzel is credited with founding the plan whereby approximately 3,000 Penn State freshmen were "farmed out"
this year to State Teachers college
and other cooperating institutions.

Assembly Ball Is Renewed In Phila.
Philadelphia, Dec. 30 (P)—The Quaker city's leading socialities,
wearing brilliant gowns and jewels,
crowded into the Bellevue Stratford
hotel Friday night for the glittering Assembly Ball, the first since 1940.
More than 1,700 guests, representing the top strata of Philadelphia society, renewed a dance begun 198 years ago. It was ordered then that assemblies be held "every Thursday night from the first Thursday in January, 1748, to the first day of May in every year, and begin precisely at six in the evening and not by any means to exceed twelve of the same night."
Now the hours are reversed. The assembly start shortly before midnight and lasts till early morning.
Supper is served at 1 a. m.
Only debutantes and their mothers who represent the oldest and most aristocratic families of Philadelphia are invited.

Strive To Quell
GOP Insurrection
Washington, Dec. 30 (P)—Senators Vandenberg and Taft were reported ready to appeal personally to their colleagues to put down a threatened GOP insurrection over the organization of the 80th Congress which convenes Friday.
The Michigan and Ohio senators,
each slated for dual roles in the new Senate leadership, indicated
they would fight to the last ditch
a move headed by Senator Reed of Kansas to bar Senator White of Maine from becoming both floor leader and chairman of the new Commerce committee.
Senator Butler (R-Neb.), predicted to a reporter that a firm stand by either or both of the leaders would "crumble" any effort to upset
the working assignments laid out in advance by White's committee on committees.

Mahlon Hartzell

compared to 30,000 pounds when he began his career, he says. "We have had coal cars in trains of 180,000 pounds capacity," he says. "At one time our officials would not allow a loaded car weighing 70 tons to be taken over the Gettysburg and Harrisburg branch. After strengthening the bridges, they take everything that is offered now."

The G and H is no "water level route." There are plenty of stiff grades between Gettysburg and Carlisle Junction, and trains must get "over the hump" or "over the mountain" as the railroaders call it, between Aspers and Hunter's Run.

"This railroad was built when they built more cheaply," says Mr. Hartzell. "They didn't eliminate all the sharp grades and curves. When I was a brakeman, trains to Gettysburg consisted of 14 cars. To get them to Starner's, we had to cut the train at Hunter's Run, take part of the train to Starner's and go back for the others. Out of Gettysburg, 12 loads was a train. We could haul these up the grade."

Friends Along Line

"Now there doesn't seem to be any limit to a train. The engines are much larger, cars are heavier, and if one locomotive can't handle the load, you may get two and on a few occasions, three engines. The largest train I have ever seen on the Gettysburg branch coming to Gettysburg was 108 loads of wheat. This train required three engines, and they also had to cut the train at Hunter's Run and take part of it to Starner's, then return for the rear portion."

The run from Gettysburg to Harrisburg is 46.3 miles, Mr. Hartzell says. The grades are as much as 70 feet to the mile for about five miles of the trip "over the mountain."

In the many years that Mr. Hartzell has been "conducting" on the passenger train, he has made many friends, and knows the people all along the line. Passenger business varies, he says. He recalls when there were three and four trains daily. Now there is one.

Worst Snow in '17 - '18

Mr. Hartzell for years has been conductor on the trip over to Harrisburg in the morning, but he doesn't come back with the "passenger." Another crew brings it back. Mr. Hartzell and his crew bring a freight train into Gettysburg afternoons.

The elements have played their part in Mr. Hartzell's railroading. It has not always been clear sailing on the G and H. Sometimes snow blocks the right of way; once in a while washouts interrupt the schedule.

"The worst snow I recall was in 1917-'18. We got as far as Biglerville, and there we stayed for several hours until a snowplow came and got us out. The engineer said he needed water, so I told him, 'You know what to do.' He uncoupled, and was going for water. Pulling ahead, he only got a foot away from the train and couldn't move either way. We filed the tender with a garden hose."

Strangest Sight

Another time Hartzell was bringing a freight train into Gettysburg. The engine got over the spot without trouble, but the roadbed began to heave up and down under the weight of the freight cars, until they got stuck at the bottom of a dip with the roadbed washed out from under them. A heavy steel cable was procured from Gettysburg and the cars were pulled out, one at a time.

One of the strangest sights Mr. Hartzell recalls in all his experience was when he brought a train of 50 cars of wheat into Gettysburg with the wheat loaded in open, coal cars. "There wasn't any covering over the wheat at all," he says. "It was exposed to the elements. Fortunately we handled it without its getting wet. I don't know what happened to it after it left here."

The wheat was enroute from Buffalo to Baltimore. It was transferred to the Western Maryland here.

Never Off For Sickness

Mr. Hartzell has never been off for sickness, but he lost six months when his foot was injured in 1913, and 30 days in 1931 when he hurt a thumb. Both accidents were caused when he caught his foot, and later his thumb, in a coupling.

Some days the passenger train to Gettysburg had only a few passengers, a bare half-dozen. Other times there were half a hundred. On Monday, next to his last day, he had 48 passengers. Some are "dead-ends," or railroad employees working in Harrisburg. "They drive their own cars in good weather, but in the winter they take the train," he says.

Some of his commuter friends presented him with a gift Monday; a Christmas remembrance and a "farewell" in one, he says.

Foreign Claims Delay Snuff Fortune Action

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 31 (AP)—Difficulty of locating foreign claimants to the multi-million dollar snuff fortune of the late Henrietta E. Garrett of Philadelphia is holding up state claims to as much as $24,000,000, H. F. Stambaugh, special deputy attorney general, said today.

The 1943 Legislature enacted a law permitting the Commonwealth to collect an 80 per cent tax on property passing to a first cousin or other relative more remote in degree where there is no will.

Mrs. Garrett died in 1935 after disposing of only $62,500 of her wealth, estimated to be as much as $30,000,000. Claims for a share of it have been filed by more than 26,000 persons, many from foreign lands, and years have been spent by special masters sifting out the claims.

A NEW YEAR — NEW RESOLVES: Let us all resolve to be more careful and prudent in our own driving and develop an attitude of cooperative courteousness and consideration toward other drivers, to the end that 1947 will be a banner year in Pennsylvania for safe and pleasant highway travel.

BLAZE DESTROYS HOME

Ridgway, Pa., Dec. 31 (AP)—Flames destroyed the two-story frame home of Ralph Dahler last night, causing damage estimated at $6,000. Dahler and his family were eating dinner when the blaze broke out but reached the outside safely.

An 80-ton whale can swim as fast as 10 miles per hour, which would put him far behind a salmon which is good for 30 m.p.h.

REPUBLICANS

PUT BUDGET BEFORE TAXES

Washington, Dec. 31 (AP)—Three more Republicans put budget balancing ahead of tax cutting today as top White House advisers said President Truman will oppose any general slash in taxes by the new Congress.

At the same time, however, these Presidential intimates emphasized that the administration will not fight tax law changes designed either to add to the production "incentive" or to wipe out any "inequalities" that may exist.

But none would say what changes along these lines might be in prospect.

Signs Go Up

The new "go slow on tax cutting" signs were hoisted on both sides of Capitol Hill today.

Senator Hawkes (R-N. J.), a former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce and one-time vice president of the National Association of Manufacturers, declared that "nothing is more important than balancing our national budget" and big tax reductions must wait for that.

"I talked to 500 able men in the last three weeks," Hawkes told a reporter. "Without being asked, all volunteered the same statement: 'I hope to God you won't reduce taxes until you balance the budget.'"

Third On List

And Rep. Judd (R-Minn.) chimed in with the view that "it would be a mistake, financially and psychologically, to make tax-cutting the first order of business."

"I think most of the country feels that way," Judd said, adding: "Make tax legislation the third order of business. First, reduce federal expenditures; second, reduce the debt—don't just talk about it—make an actual payment; and third, take up tax legislation."

Hoffman said the uncertainties of the year ahead should force Congress to go slow.

Milk Control Bd. Delays Price Study

Harrisburg, Dec. 31 (AP)—The State Milk Control Commission, backed by the advice of its dairy industry committee, is holding off any review of milk prices until the present complex price situation becomes clearer, Chairman H. N. Cobb said today.

"There are too many different factors now for the commission to make any predictions," Cobb said, adding the dairy industry has asked the commission to delay any new price hearings at least for several months.

Cobb said most milk dealers in Pennsylvania are now paying producers higher prices for milk than established by milk commission orders last July while at the same time keeping retail prices at commission levels except in Philadelphia, and the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre area, where prices are a cent a quart higher.

HALF MILLION SAY FAREWELL TO GRID GAME

New York, Dec. 31 (AP)—The New Year's Day football bowls, which at last count numbered 19, throw open their gates tomorrow to an estimated half million sports fans who will ring in the new year by saying goodbye to the grid game of the old.

With the exception of unbeaten Army and Notre Dame, content to stand on their laurels without benefit of post-season performance, the major grid Titans of 1946 will be on display tomorrow for this finale of perhaps the greatest season in the game's history.

The grand-daddy of them all, of course, is the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, which had its inception in a meeting of Michigan and Stanford back in 1902. There was a lapse between that game and the meeting of Washington State and Brown in 1916, but from there on, the string is unbroken.

Illinois This year
Illinois, designer of the western (Big Nine) conference, meets University of California at Los Angeles in tomorrow's classic, with some 90,000 expected.

Although shunning the "bowl" title, the Shrine game in San Francisco's Kezar stadium, rates next in post-season game longevity and tomorrow the eastern and western college All-Stars will meet in the 22nd annual classic.

The Orange Bowl got under way at Miami in 1933 as Florida entered the act, and the south came up two years later with its own, the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. The Sun Bowl at El Paso, Texas, a year later, and the Cotton Bowl followed at Dallas the year after that.

Other Bowl Games
The Rose Bowl has the champions of the Pacific coast and the Big Nine, the Sugar Bowl the co-champion of the southeastern conference and the champion of the southern conference, Georgia and North Carolina. The Orange Bowl presents the co-holders of the southeastern and southwestern conferences, Tennessee and Rice. Arkansas, co-chairman of the southwest, and Louisiana State, near the top in the southeast, meet in the Cotton Bowl.

Altogether, these four major bowl games will have seven sectional conference champions or co-champions.

WINGFOOTS WIN

Akron, O., Dec. 31 (AP)—The Good-year Wingfoots defeated Westminster college cagers 63 to 48 last night.

Goodyear's victory was its sixth in 13 games. Westminster's loss was its second in eight starts.

Three Akron players were tied for top scoring place: Ed Raymond, Jim Sankey and Al Francesconi, each with 13 points.

Paris Denied Bail; Case Ready For Trial

New York, Dec. 31 (AP)—Newly-retained defense counsel for Alvin J. Paris, charged with attempting to bribe two New York Giants football players, declared yesterday "we are ready to go to trial," after Paris was denied bail by Supreme Court Justice Samuel Null.

Samuel Finkelstein, a friend of Paris' mother, Mrs. Charlotte Ginsberg, was retained as defense counsel after withdrawal from the case of Caesar B. F. Barra and his associate, William V. Breslin of Hackensack, N. J.

The trial is scheduled for Thursday in general sessions court.

KEATH LEADS IN SCORING HONORS

Philadelphia, Dec. 31 (AP)—As the 1946 phase of the current basketball season bows out, Frankie Keath of Elizabethtown college held a 40-point lead in the race for cage scoring honors in Pennsylvania.

An Associated Press tabulation showed the Elizabethtown Eagle-Eye was pacing the state not only in total points but in average per game, total baskets and total foul throws converted.

With a six-game total of 128 points, Keath was well in front of second place Chet Dembinski of the strong Westminster college team, who had 88 points.

Joe Lord of Villanova and Harry Donovan of Muhlenberg were tied for third place with 82 points each, three better than Fred Marchion of Moravian, in fifth position.

Keath's top-dog average was 21.3 points per game while Lord and Donovan tied for second with a mark of 20.5. Marchion and Hank Knoche of Washington & Jefferson trailed with 19.8 and 19.5, respectively.

Knoche was tied for sixth in total scoring with Bobby Walters of LaSalle, each with 78 points. Walters was one of three LaSalle players among the select group, the others being Bill McCann and Larry Poust. Keath's 49 baskets were 13 higher than the 36 racked up by second place Lord and 15 more than the 34 of third place Dembinski. At the foul line, Lord converted 30 times compared with 22 for Donovan and 20 for Dembinski.

MERCHANTS WIN 47-31 DECISION

After trailing 12-8 at the end of the first period, the Gettysburg Merchants basketball team rallied in the second quarter to take a 22-17 half time lead and went on to win easily 47-31 over the previously unbeaten Waynesboro Shamrocks on the Hotel Gettysburg annex floor Monday evening.

The Merchants had everything their own way the last three frames with Abe Hankey and George Boehner featuring the attack with 19 and 14 points, respectively.

The victory was particularly sweet for the Merchants inasmuch as they previously had lost by a wide margin to the Shamrocks at Waynesboro.

On Wednesday evening the strong McSherrystown K. of C. cagers will meet the Merchants on the annex floor.

PIAA Stands Pat On Eligibility

Harrisburg, Dec. 31 (AP)—Edmund Wicht, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association, said his organization planned no further study of its eligibility rules "at this time."

In a statement issued yesterday Wicht said the PIAA board of control made its interpretation of the eligibility rule at a meeting on October 28 and at a more recent meeting decided to stand pat on these interpretations.

Under the PIAA setup the next action must come before the district committees, with any non-member schools that wish to meet PIAA member schools in athletic competition being required to have these district committees certify their athletes as bona-fide students, with one year of attendance at the non-member school needed for eligibility.

Most of the district committees will hold meetings in March to arrange for the annual play-off games leading the state basketball championships.

To All the Folks of

compared to 30,000 pounds when he began his career, he says. "We have had coal cars in trains of 180,000 pounds capacity," he says. "At one time our officials would not allow a loaded car weighing 70 tons to be taken over the Gettysburg and Harrisburg branch. After strengthening the bridges, they take everything that is offered now."

The G and H is no "water level route." There are plenty of stiff grades between Gettysburg and Carlisle Junction, and trains must get "over the hump" or "over the mountain" as the railroaders call it, between Aspers and Hunter's Run.

"This railroad was built when they built more cheaply," says Mr. Hartzell. "They didn't eliminate all the sharp grades and curves. When I was a brakeman, trains to Gettysburg consisted of 14 cars. To get them to Starnes, we had to cut the train at Hunter's Run, take part of the train to Starnes and go back for the others. Out of Gettysburg, 10 loads was a train. We could haul these up the grade."

Friends Along Line
"Now there doesn't seem to be any limit to a train. The engines are much larger, cars are heavier, and if one locomotive can't handle the load, you may get two and on a few occasions, three engines. The largest train I have ever seen on the Gettysburg branch coming to Gettysburg was 108 loads of wheat. This train required three engines, and they also had to cut the train at Hunter's Run and take part of it to Starnes, then return for the remainder."

The run from Gettysburg to Harrisburg is 46.3 miles. Mr. Hartzell says. The grades are as much as 70 feet to the mile for about five miles of the trip "over the mountain."

In the many years that Mr. Hartzell has been "conducting" on the passenger train, he has made many friends, and knows the people all along the line. Passenger business varies, he says. He recalls when there were three and four trains daily. Now there is one.

Worst Snow in '17 - '18
Mr. Hartzell for years has been conductor on the trip over to Harrisburg in the morning, but he doesn't come back with the "passenger." Another crew brings it back. Mr. Hartzell and his crew bring a freight train into Gettysburg afternoons.

The elements have played their part in Mr. Hartzell's railroading. It has not always been clear sailing on the G and H. Sometimes snow blocks the right of way; once in a while washouts interrupt the schedule.

"The worst snow I recall was in 1917-18. We got as far as Biglerville, and there we stayed for several hours until a snowplow came and got us out. The engineer said he needed water, so I told him, 'You know what to do.' He uncoupled, and was going for water. Pulling ahead, he only got a foot away from the train and couldn't move either way. We filled the tender with a garden hose."

Strangest Sight
Another time Hartzell was bringing a freight train into Gettysburg. The engine got over the spur without trouble, but the roadbed began to heave up and down under the weight of the freight cars, until they got stuck at the bottom of a dip with the roadbed washed out from under them. A heavy steel cable was procured from Gettysburg and the cars were pulled out, one at a time.

One of the strangest sights Mr. Hartzell recalls in all his experience was when he brought a train of 50 cars of wheat into Gettysburg with the wheat loaded in open coal cars. "There wasn't any covering over the wheat at all," he says. "It was exposed to the elements. Fortunately we handled it without its getting wet. I don't know what happened to it after it left here."

The wheat was enroute from Buffalo to Baltimore. It was transferred to the Western Maryland here.

Never Off For Sickness
Mr. Hartzell has never been off for sickness, but he lost six months when his foot was injured in 1913, and 30 days in 1921 when he hurt a thumb. Both accidents were caused when he caught his foot, and later his thumb, in a coupling.

Some days the passenger train to Gettysburg had only a few passengers, a bare half-dozen. Other times there were half a hundred. On Monday, Dec. 31, his last day, he had 46 passengers. Some are "read-heads," or railroad employees working in Harrisburg. "They drive their own cars in good weather, but in the winter they take the train," he says.

Some of his commuter friends presented him with a gift Monday at Christmas: a remembrance and a "farewell" to one, he says.

His widow, Harriet, from whom he was separated years ago, disclosed through her lawyers that an intimate friend would say a word of farewell, and that only Fields' closest friends would attend. Interment will be in Forest Lawn Memorial park, Glendale.

Pittsburgh, Dec. 31 (P)—After nearly 62 years' service, William C. Moreland resigned as a director of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. today, his 80th birthday. He resigned from the active duties of vice president 10 years ago.

Foreign Claims Delay Snuff Fortune Action
Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 31 (P)—Difficulty of locating foreign claimants to the multi-million dollar snuff fortune of the late Henrietta E. Garrett of Philadelphia is holding up state claims to as much as $24,000,000. H. F. Stambaugh, special deputy attorney general, said today.

The 1943 Legislature enacted a law permitting the Commonwealth to collect an 80 per cent tax on property passing to a first cousin or other relative more remote in degree where there is no will.

Mrs. Garrett died in 1935 after disposing of only $82,500 of her wealth, estimated to be as much as $20,000,000. Claims for a share of it have been filed by more than 25,000 persons, many from foreign lands, and years have been spent by special masters sifting out the claims.

Scoggins of Odessa, Tex., and a Japanese girl were killed last week when the army truck in which they were riding was struck by a locomotive at a crossing near the Irami autobase. Fifth Airforce headquarters announced today.

REPUBLICANS PUT BUDGET BEFORE TAXES
Washington, Dec. 31 (P)—Three more Republicans put budget balancing ahead of tax cutting today as top White House advisers said President Truman will oppose any general slash in taxes by the new Congress.

At the same time, however, these Presidential intimates emphasized that the administration will not fight tax law changes designed either to add to the production "incentive" or to wipe out any "inequalities" that may exist.

But none would say what changes along these lines might be in prospect.

Signs Go Up
The new "go slow on tax cutting" signs were hoisted on both sides of Capitol Hill.

Sens. Hawkes (R-N. J.), a former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce and one-time vice president of the National Association of Manufacturers, declared that "nothing is more important than balancing our national budget" and big tax reductions must wait for that.

"I talked to 500 able men in the last three weeks," Hawkes told a reporter. "Without being asked, all volunteered the same statement: 'I hope to God you won't reduce taxes until you balance the budget.'"

Third On List

And Rep. Judd (R-Minn.) chimed in with the view that "it would be a mistake, financially and psychologically, to make tax-cutting the first order of business."

"I think most of the country feels that way," Judd said, adding: "Make tax legislation the third order of business. First, reduce federal expenditures; second, reduce the debt—don't just talk about it—make an actual payment; and third, take up tax legislation."

Hoffman said the unwarranted force of the year ahead should force Congress to go slow.

Upper Communities
Mr. and Mrs. William M. Lott, Gardners R. D., entertained over the Christmas season Miss Mary Lockner, of Harrisburg; Mr. and Mrs. John Bouquet and their two children, of Lebanon and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Harvey, of Buffalo, New York.

BELL PLANS NO MAJOR CHANGES
Harrisburg, Dec. 31 (P)—Lt. Gov. John C. Bell, Jr., says he plans no major appointments or cabinet changes while he heads a "caretaker" state government.

Bell will fill in the 20-day gap between the resignation Thursday of Governor Martin to become U. S. Senator and the inauguration of Governor-elect James H. Duff on January 21.

Bell said he would ask George I. Bloom, Martin's secretary, and other members of the cabinet to complete their terms. He will hold a reception in the State house of representatives immediately after his inauguration as "caretaker" governor on Thursday afternoon.

Meantime, Duff went ahead with plans for "a simple, dignified and inexpensive" inaugural ceremony, without an official parade.

The governor-elect said he had given instructions to keep expenses down because of the demands for funds the Commonwealth faces in the next few years.

The State department of property and supplies has started construction of an inaugural stand in Capitol Plaza to seat 2,400 persons. In case of inclement weather, the inauguration will be held in the forum of the education building as was the case in Governor Martin's inauguration.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 31 (P)—Two Pennsylvania firms have been named defendants in portal-to-portal pay suits filed by the United Steelworkers of America to recover $16,000,000.

The latest suit, filed by Local 3317 of the CIO union, seeks $5,000,000 in portal pay and $6,000,000 in liquidated damages against the New Jersey Zinc company of Palmerton, Pa. The local, in its suit entered yesterday in U. S. District Court here, states that the asserted pay is "due and owing to employees of the defendant company for overtime work performed by the workers."

Although the portal suit, which asks pay from October 24, 1935, named 377 workers, union officials said it actually covers 2,500 employees of the company, which manufactures zinc products. "Reasonable attorney fees" also was asked in the suit, in addition to the portal pay.

The other Pennsylvania firm named in the suits was the Lehigh Foundries, Inc., of Easton, from which Local 694 of the Steelworkers Union seeks $2,000,000.

turkeys were recently driven from East Berlin to Hanover for the Hanover Produce company.

Snow fell here on Tuesday afternoon and evening to the depth of about 4 inches, not enough, however, for sleighing. The thermometer dropped to 4 degrees on Thursday morning, the coldest morning in the winter and we are having seasonable weather for the holidays.

Mr. F. Mark Bream, of Cash-

people last week making holiday purchases.

Merchants report that business
was moderately good.

Christmas was a quiet day, but an ideal one, the weather being clear and the air bracing. It was essentially the festival of the home,
people remaining in-doors, enjoying the Christmas tree, gifts and social life.

Today's Talk

A NEW YEAR PRAYER
Lead us this New Year, O God, into new conceptions. Cleanse us in mind and heart, and separate us
from all pettiness, all insincerities,
all idle boastings, and all vain-glorious attempts. Keep us humble in spirit and selfless.

Create within us resolves of signifificance, and lead us into each new day with increasing thankfulness
for all Thy endless benefits. Banish all fear from our hearts, and give to us forward courage. Imbue us with tolerance, understanding, and consideration for the feelings of others. Teach us Thy will, and help us to keep the faith.

Grant to us, dear Lord, great performance in little things, as well as in the big things. Give to us an open mind, and a just one, so that no word or act of ours may leave a hurt or scar behind. Endow us with abundant kindness, and make it easy to apply at every opportunity.

Give to us, we pray, a universal outlook, and inspire us into ways of usefulness. Help us to experience
the joys of the triumphant life,
and may we never lose the common touch, by which we become known one to the other.

Guide us, Heavenly Father,
through every vicissitude of life.
May we follow uncomplainingly, with fortitude, and may Thy will rule every act, direct every impulse, toward a more perfect union of mind and spirit, so that we may more and more become one with Thee.

May this New Year be filled with richness and service rendered, and may we be accounted worthy servants in Thy Kingdom here upon this earth.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Kerr Eby"

EXPECTANTS ALL
The birth of a year is a blessed event.

Expectants we are, one and all.
As loved ones whose time must in waiting be spent,
We walk up and down in the hall.

With eyes on the doorway, we watch
as we pace
For the nurse from the room to appear,

With a smile of delight on her
glorious face,
To tell us the baby is here.

With eyes on the clock, now all over the earth,
Men and women are waiting to cheer

At the moment the nurse, who assists at the birth,
Announces the baby is here.

FIGHT INERTIA IN VENEZUELA
"DEMOCRACY"

By SAM DAWSON
(Dawson, AP staff writer who substitutes today for Dewitt Mackenzie, covered the December 11 revolt in Venezuela and made a study of political and economic conditions
in the South American Republic.)

New York, Dec. 31 (AP)—Venezuela's 14-month-old experiment in democracy has survived the tests of bullets and ballots, but it still has two big obstacles to overcome.

The great mass of the population needs education in democracy. Many of the people seem to have little conception of what democracy means and how it operates.

Also, the "outs" have powerful friends at home and abroad, especially within the army, where many officers giving lip service to democracy still appear to believe in the right of the military to rule.

Leaders of the Dec. 11 rebellion were army officers who aided the Oct. 18, 1945, revolution which ousted Gen. Isaias Medina Angarita and put the present liberal Junta
into power.

Progress Made
They fought for democracy in that uprising, but when President Romulo Betancourt's Junta showed that it intended to educate Venezuelans in self government looking toward civilian control, as in the United States, these same men plotted the overthrow of the Junta and the return to army rule.

They failed through bad planning and indecisive execution. How many of their same belief still hold high rank in the army and in the government probably is giving Betancourt some anxious moments.

In 14 months, however, the Junta has made progress in its closely associated tasks of improving economic conditions and of educating a people, accustomed for centuries
to rule by dictators, to the ways of democracy.

Minimums of Graft
Betancourt's Junta at the outset
upped the annual budget from $175,- 000,000 to $300,000,000 putting emphasis on schools, sanitation, roads and housing.

This was no PWA project to make work for the idle. The idea was to lay the groundwork for transforming an oil-wealthy but otherwise undeveloped Venezuela into a modern democracy.

Venezuelans tell you that the projects have been run with a minimum of graft—as far as is known—although they add that the habits of centuries are hard to break.

The cabinet is "a young man's government"—one cabinet member is still in his twenties, others are in their thirties and forties.

People Indifferent
This had the advantage of bringing young blood and energy into the task of welding a democracy. It also brought inexperience. Many of the Junta's mistakes are traced to that.
The Junta has loudly proclaimed its stand for freedom of thought,
press and expression.

The Junta's own party, Accion Democratica, won overwhelmingly,
in what is advertised as the most democratic election ever held in South America. Communists won two seats.

A cabinet official who asked not to be named said, the Junta's plans for democratization were proceeding with "great success." Except for one thing—Indifference of the mass of people.

Polio Victim Gives
Bike To Crippled Boy

Philadelphia, Dec. 31 (AP)—A Quaker City furniture dealer who was stricken with polio nine years ago,
had a brand new tricycle for crippled
little Bobby Braun of Newark, N. J., today to replace the seven-year-old boy's new Christmas bike
that was stolen Saturday.

Jack Healey, 24, heard about the theft of Bobby's tricycle whose pedals physicians said might bring strength that would enable the boy to throw away his crutches, in an Associated Press story over radio station WIBG. He immediately telephoned the station and offered the tricycle, which was left over from Christmas stock, to Bobby, who was born with cerebral palsy.

"I know how the little fellow feels," Healey explained, "and if I can help bring strength into his legs, I'll certainly do it. Just have his folks, or Bobby, get in touch with me at Nebraska 4-6385, in Philadelphia, and the bike is his. I only hope it's not too big for Bobby."

Venezuela derived its name from early explorers who found its dwellings built on piles similar to those in Venice; hence "Little Venice" or "Venezuela."

THE LITTLE GUY NOT TOO CALM OVER NEW YEAR

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Dec. 31 (P)—Once more the man of the year is the little guy—any little guy—going home this last day of 1946 with a kind of calm feeling, but not too calm.

A little older. Less hair. Thicker glasses. Heart still good, he hoped. Have to get it checked. Sometime.

He got on the bus with other guys, some of them noisily tight already for New Year's Eve. Silly jokers. Just another day. End of a year.

Then he suddenly suffered that twinge which some people call the pain of loss. His own lost youth. He used to get out on New Year's Eve. Had good times, too.

He Felt Calm. But that was long ago. Oh, not so long ago. Long enough, though. He grinned a little at the noisy guys. The bus rocked. End of a year.

End of a year. He still couldn't get a suit he wanted. No car, either. There were even days in 1946 when he couldn't get a steak. OPA's gone now. Goodbye, OPA. But the prices. Out of the world.

Yes, but he'd come through 1946 only a little the worse for wear. One full year of peace. Peace? Not at home. Strikes, strikes. They didn't hurt him, really. He had coal.

But they hurt other people. Hurt strikers while they were striking. A hurt business, too. Everybody work-year of pushing and pulling, setting now. Everything going good. That's why he felt calm. But—

Good how long? More strikes in

Cover Charges Up With OPA Off Now

Pittsburgh, Dec. 31 (P)—You can see the New Year in at the city's gay spots tonight but the cover charge—free of any OPA restrictions—will range from $8 to $25 which may or may not include breakfast.

The Yellow Cab Co. said it would have its 360 taxis on the street "if we have to push them" and special service was promised by trolley and bus companies far into the night.

1947? Higher prices? A depression maybe? That's why he didn't feel too calm. He didn't know what was coming.

Men pushed past him, getting off the bus. Kind of tired-looking. Wearing one more year of life on their faces. But he had a new radio. New records. That's a warm feeling, being home.

Home and plenty to eat. He wished his wife wouldn't talk so much. But plenty people didn't have plenty to eat. Or enough. In Europe, Asia. The United Nations would fix that. Or would they?

Too Much Talk. All that United Nations stuff. Gabbie, gabbie, gabbie. It they'd just stop talking and get to the point. He didn't follow the United Nations any more. Too complicated now. Too much talk.

The bus stopped and the little guy got off. He tried to think more of all the things that happened in 1946. The elections. Hotel fires. Atom bomb talk. Why did he feel home. Strikes, strikes. They didn't hurt him, really. He had coal.

But they hurt other people. Hurt strikers while they were striking. A hurt business, too. Everybody work-year of pushing and pulling, setting now. Everything going good. That's why he felt calm. But—

GUFFEY QUILTS OFFICE TODAY

Washington, Dec. 31 (P)—Joseph P. Guffey is closing shop today.

And when he says goodbye to his staff and shuts behind him the door to his five-room suite in the Senate office building it will be the end, he declares, of his active political career.

"I will never run again for any office," he said in an interview, "and I will not accept any appointive position."

The white-haired, thick-browed bachelor looked about his almost-empty inner office. The walls, once filled with photographs and newspaper cartoons, were bare. Cabinets, emptied of their 12 years' accumulation of mementoes, stood open. From the files of the other offices more than a ton of papers had been transferred, stored or destroyed.

"I'm going to live with my sisters," he would be. His wife wouldn't talk all through 1947 except when she said: "You want some sugar, honey?" he liked sugar.

Say Warm Weather Hurt Wheat Crop

Harrisburg, Dec. 31 (P)—A drop of approximately one million bushels was predicted for Pennsylvania's winter wheat crop by the State Department of Agriculture.

The department based its prediction on a survey made by the Federal-State crop reporting service among state farmers who said the present outlook is for a 18,940,000 bushel crop when the wheat is harvested.

The farmers attributed the decline to the warm weather of October and November which prompted growth to such an extent that they fear that after freezing weather the yields will not be as large as usual when the crop is here in Washington," he said. "I'll have an office in their home so that I can look after our personal affairs. That's all I'm going to do."

He said he will go to Texas around the middle of next month to look over some oil properties in which his sisters are interested. But beyond that he had no immediate plans.

Christmas was a quiet day, but an ideal one, the weather being clear and the air bracing. It was essentially the festival of the home, people remaining in-doors, enjoying the Christmas tree, gifts and social life.

Mr. P. G. Breighner gave his children a happy surprise on Christmas day by presenting them with a handsome McCammon piano bought from our music dealer, George E. Spangler.

Today's Talk

A NEW YEAR PRAYER

Lead us this New Year, O God, into new conceptions. Cleanse us in mind and heart, and separate us from all pettiness, all insincerities, all idle boastings, and all vain-glorious attempts. Keep us humble in spirit and selfless.

Create within us resolves of significance, and lead us into each new day with increasing thankfulness for all Thy endless benefits. Banish all fear from our hearts, and give to us forward courage. Imbue us with tolerance, understanding, and consideration for the feelings of others. Teach us Thy will, and help us to keep the faith.

Grant to us, dear Lord, great performance in little things, as well as in the big things. Give to us an open mind, and a just one, so that no word or act of ours may leave a hurt or scar behind. Endow us with abundant kindness, and make it easy to apply at every opportunity.

Give to us, we pray, a universal outlook, and inspire us into ways of usefulness. Help us to experience the joys of the triumphant life, and may we never lose the common touch, by which we become known one to the other.

Guide us, Heavenly Father, through every vicissitude of life. May we follow uncomplainingly, with fortitude, and may Thy will rule every act, direct every impulse, toward a more perfect union of mind and spirit, so that we may more and more become one with Thee.

May this New Year be filled with richness and service rendered, and may we be accounted worthy servants in Thy Kingdom here upon this earth.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Karr Eby"

EXPECTANTS ALL
The birth of a year is a blessed event.

Expectants we are, one and all. As loved ones whose time must in waiting be spent.

We walk up and down in the hall.

With eyes on the doorway, we watch as we pace

For the nurse from the room to appear,

With a smile of delight on her glorious face,

To tell us the baby is here.

With eyes on the clock, now all over the earth,

Men and women are waiting to cheer

At the moment the nurse, who assists at the birth,

Announces the baby is here.

FIGHT INERTIA IN VENEZUELA "DEMOCRACY"

By SAM DAWSON

(Dawson, AP staff writer who substitutes today for Dewitt Mackenzie, covered the December 11 revolt in Venezuela and made a study of political and economic conditions in the South American Republic.)

New York, Dec. 31 (AP)—Venezuela's 14-month-old experiment in democracy has survived the tests of bullets and ballots, but it still has two big obstacles to overcome.

The great mass of the population needs education in democracy. Many of the people seem to have little conception of what democracy means and how it operates.

Also, the "outs" have powerful friends at home and abroad, especially within the army, where many officers giving lip service to democracy still appear to believe in the right of the military to rule.

Leaders of the Dec. 11 rebellion were army officers who aided the Oct. 18, 1945, revolution which ousted Gen. Isaias Medina Angarita and put the present liberal Junta into power.

Progress Made
They fought for democracy in that uprising, but when President Romulo Betancourt's Junta showed that it intended to educate Venezuelans in self government looking toward civilian control, as in the United States, these same men plotted the overthrow of the Junta and the return to army rule.

They failed through bad planning and indecisive execution. How many of their same belief still hold high rank in the army and in the government probably is giving Betancourt some anxious moments.

In 14 months, however, the Junta has made progress in its closely associated tasks of improving economic conditions and of educating a people, accustomed for centuries to rule by dictators, to the ways of democracy.

Minimums of Graft
Betancourt's Junta at the outset upped the annual budget from $175,000,000 to $300,000,000 putting emphasis on schools, sanitation, roads and housing.

This was no PWA project to make work for the idle. The idea was to lay the groundwork for transforming an oil-rich but otherwise undeveloped Venezuela into a modern democracy.

Venezuelans tell you that the projects have been run with a minimum of graft—as far as is known—although they add that the habits of centuries are hard to break.

The cabinet is "a young man's government"—one cabinet member is still in his twenties, others are in their thirties and forties.

People Indifferent

This had the advantage of bringing young blood and energy into the task of welding a democracy. It also brought inexperience. Many of the Junta's mistakes are traced to that.

The Junta has loudly proclaimed its stand for freedom of thought, press and expression.

The Junta's own party, Accion Democratica, won overwhelmingly, in what is advertised as the most democratic election ever held in South America. Communists won two seats.

A cabinet official who asked not to be named said, the Junta's plans for democratization were proceeding with "great success." Except for one thing—Indifference of the mass of people.

Polio Victim Gives Bike To Crippled Boy

Philadelphia, Dec. 31 (AP)—A Quaker City furniture dealer who was stricken with polio nine years ago, had a brand new tricycle for crippled little Bobby Braun of Newark, N. J., today to replace the seven-year-old boy's new Christmas bike that was stolen Saturday.

Jack Healey, 24, heard about the theft of Bobby's tricycle whose pedals physicians said might bring strength that would enable the boy to throw away his crutches, in an Associated Press story over radio station WIEG. He immediately telephoned the station and offered the tricycle, which was left over from Christmas stock, to Bobby, who was born with cerebral palsy.

"I know how the little fellow feels," Healey explained, "and if I can help bring strength into his legs, I'll certainly do it. Just have his folks, or Bobby, get in touch with me at Nebraska 4-6385, in Philadelphia, and the bike is his. I only hope it's not too big for Bobby."

Venezuela derived its name from early explorers who found its dwellings built on piles similar to those in Venice; hence "Little Venice" or "Venezuela."

INTENTIONAL ERRORS
Des Moines, Ia., (AP)—A Des Moines department store manager, surveying hundreds of women who headed for stores to exchange such Christmas gifts as slips, dresses and gloves, blamed it all on the men folk.

"When men guess wrong about sizes they usually guess too small,"

he said, "I imagine it is flattering to the wife and girl friend."

The manager said he had no complaint about the rush to the credit counter. The exchanges also bring more sales, he said.

GAMBLING AND SCALPING CAUSE OF GRID SPLIT

By SID FEDER
New York, Dec. 31 (AP)—The new year shadows of ticket "scalping" and gambling generally were regarded today as factors behind the football split between Army and Notre Dame. Indications are that the two schools will give the situation a chance to cool off before re-opening relations, probably early in the 1950's.

It is expected to take about that long for big time football to get back to the point where it will once more "serve the interests x x x of intercollegiate athletics."

That was the stipulation for resumption of the rivalry that both Major General Maxwell D. Taylor, the military academy superintendent and the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, Notre Dame president, laid down yesterday when they announced the series would be suspended temporarily because it was getting out of hand. Both declared conditions surrounding the annual Army-Notre tilt were "escaping the control of the two colleges."

Last Game In 1947
A 1947 game will be played Nov. 8 in Notre's 50,000-seat memorial stadium in South Bend, Ind., and then the series will be discontinued until further notice.

The current series began with an upset in 1913 and has grown through the years into the "homecoming game" for the subway alumni all over the nation.

In 1947 the get-together will be taken out of the big-time huddle of New York's Yankee stadium for the first time in 15 years and returned to the comparative normalcy of a college campus where school authorities will be in direct control of ticket distribution.

Although there was no direct mention of either gambling or ticket speculation, heads of both schools remarked conditions were "not conducive to wholesome intercollegiate sports."

One source close to the picture said ticket speculation which brought scalpers $200 per ticket this year, and a boom in gridiron betting, now estimated at $100,000-600 a year nationally, were chief reasons why the two schools announced a temporary parting of the ways.

The break was seen in most quarters as another step toward taking some of the big-buildup off college football, a step that goes along with the decision of the midwest's big nine and the Pacific coast conference to tie up in the Rose Bowl to freeze out schools with too-liberal athletic policies.

More than 100 million bushels of U. S. Shelled corn are used annually to make starch, corn syrup and corn meal.

Rockets At Bottom But Top Scoring

New York, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Philadelphia Rockets are at the bottom of the Am. hockey league standings, but they still possess the honors in the individual scoring race, their chief gunner, Phil Hergersheimer remaining at the top of the column for the second successive week.

League statistics show Hergersheimer, with 24 goals and 22 assists, leading his nearest competitor, Cleveland's Johnny Holota of the western division leading Cleveland Barons by two points. Hergersheimer has played 33 games while Holota has appeared in 30.

Holota moved up a notch from third place last week to the runner-up spot this week, but the most sensational climb was made by his teammate, Bobby Carse, who jumped from 12th to third by adding two goals and six assists during the week to compile a total of 41 points in 28 games.

RECRUITING NOTE
When a prowler was detected in the kitchen of a fraternity house at Manhattan, Kans., recently, Ray Adeo, Kansas state's star two-miler, gave chase. . . . The thief, burdened with a chicken, a quart of milk and two pounds of fish, outdistanced the runner. . . . Adeo, reports the Lincoln Star's Norris Anderson, soon forgot about the food. He wanted the intruder for the K-state track team.

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
New York, Dec. 31 (AP)—One reason for the Army-Notre Dame fracture of football relations that hasn't been mentioned very loudly is that Army won't be good enough to play the Irish on even terms. . . . With those great wartime teams gone, Army will be strictly "Ivy league" from here on. Look at the '47 squad and schedule. . . . If Army built up to the Notre Dame level, the Ivy teams wouldn't play, and besides Maj. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, the ac-

Australians Say U.S. Tactics Best

Sydney, Dec. 31 (AP)—Australian experts agreed today that this nation's tennis players must change their tactics if they hope to win back the historic Davis cup which a slugging American team wrested from them in Melbourne yesterday by a 5-0 score.

"Judged by the results of this year's contests, the attacking game has come into its own," declared Gerald Patterson, non-playing captain of the Australian cup team. "Australia must change her Davis cup tactics."

Patterson added that "the dash and fleetness of foot shown by the Americans were something our coming players could well emulate."

ademy superintendent, won't stand for any high pressure building. . . . You could see that a couple of weeks ago when he was decrying big time football, "professional mental attitudes," etc., and protesting that college presidents should have full charge of college athletics. . . . "If Biff Jones thinks he runs athletics at West Point, he's badly mistaken," the general added. . . . But think of the plight of those poor subway alumni. They may never see daylight again.

CATTLE—Receipts at the opening of this week were sharply increased over the same period a week ago. Higher asking prices on the part of shambles tended to slow the early action of all slaughter classes but as salesman and buyer got together a fairly active market prevailed. All interests completed for the day's receipts with local buyers settling the trading pace. All slaughter classes sold steadily with last week's general market.

In the steer division, a single strictly choice 1,270-pound fed steer, $26 top. Top good and choice $20.15—20.50-pound fed steers, in land and truck lots, $24.50—25.65, latter price load lot top. GAMBLING AND SCALPING CAUSE OF GRID SPLIT

By SID FEDER
New York, Dec. 31 (AP)—The meeting shadows of "scalping" and gambling generally were regarded today as factors behind the football split between Army and Notre Dame. Indications are that the two schools will give the situation a chance to cool off before resuming relations, probably early in the 1950's.

It is expected to take about two long for big time football to get back to the point where it will once more serve the interests of intercollegiate athletics.

That was the supposition for resumption of the rivalry that both Major General Maxwell D. Taylor, the military academy superintendent, and the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, Notre Dame president, laid down yesterday when they announced the strus would be suspended temporarily because it was getting out of hand. Both declared conditions surrounding the annual Army-Notre ult were "escaping the control of the two colleges."

Last Game In 1947
A 1947 game will be played Nov. 8 in Notre's 35,000-seat memorial stadium in South Bend, Ind., and then the series will be discontinued until further notice.

The current series began with an upset in 1913 and has grown through the years into the "homecoming game" for the subway alumni all over the nation.

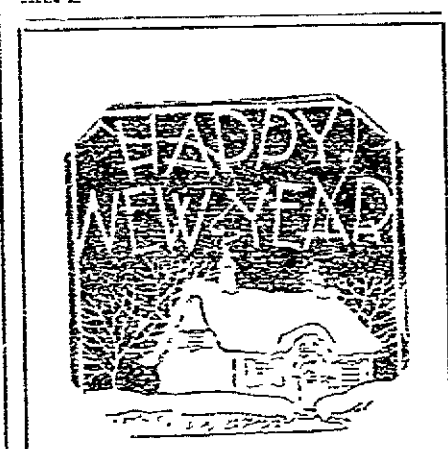

In 1947 the get-together will be taken out of the big-time nullification of New York's Yankee stadium for the first time in 25 years and returned to the comparatively normal of a college campus where school authorities will be in direct control of ticket distribution.

Although there is a possibility of either gambling or ticket speculation, because of both schools' remarks connections were not conducive to wholesome intercollegiate sports.

One source close to the picture said ticket speculation on which scalpers $200 per ticket this year, and a boom in ground betting, now estimated at $100,000-900 a year nationally, were chief reasons for the two schools' announcement a temporary truce of the rivalry.

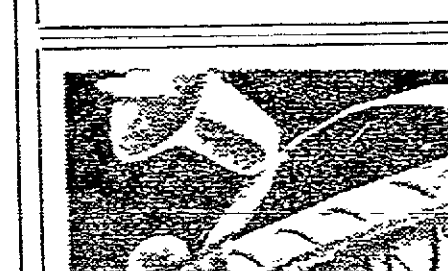

The break was seen in most quarters as another step toward taking some of the big-outlets of college football out of the hands of the big nine and the Pacific coast conference to be up in the Rose Bowl to freeze out schools with less liberal athletic policies.

Rockets At Bottom But Top Scoring

New York, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Philadelphia Rockets are at the bottom of the Am. hockey league standings, but they still possess the honors in the individual scoring race, their chief gunner, Phil Hergersheimer remaining at the top of the column for the second successive week.

League statistics show Hergersheimer with 24 goals and 22 assists, leaving his nearest competitor, Cleveland's Johnny Holota of the western division leading Cleveland Barons by two points. Hergersheimer has played 33 games while Holota has appeared in 30.

Holota moved up a notch from third place last week to the runner-up spot this week, but the most sensational climb was made by his teammate, Bobby Carse, who jumped from 12th to third by adding two goals and six assists during the week to compile a total of 41 points in 26 games.

Mateer Rated First Among Tennis Juniors

Philadelphia, Dec. 31 (AP)—Diehl Marcor, Haverford college freshman, was ranked first among juniors today in the Middle States Tennis Association's rankings.

Mateer's ranking now awards approval by the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association.

The Mathay brothers—Dean and McDonald—of Princeton were rated behind Mateer who won the Middle States interscholastic title. Lewis August, Philadelphia, finalist in the interscholastic and Philadelphia district tournament, was listed fourth in the rankings.

RECRUITING NOTE
When a prowler was detected in the kitchen of a "fraternity house" at Manhattan, Kans., recently, Ray Adee, Kansas state's star two-miler, gave chase.

The thief, burdened with a chicken, a quart of milk and two pounds of fish, outdistanced the runner. Adee, reports the Lincoln Star's Norris Anderson, soon forgot about the food. He wanted the intruder for the K-state track team.

With those great wartime teams gone, Army will be strictly "ivy league" from here on. Look at the '47 squad and schedule. . . . Australians Say U.S. Tactics Best

Sydney, Dec. 31 (AP)—Australian experts agreed today that this nation's tactics players must change their tactics if they hope to win back the historic Davis cup which a slugging American team wrested from them in Melbourne yesterday by a 5-0 score.

"Judged by the results of this year's contests, the attacking game has come into its own," declared Gerald Patterson, non-playing captain of the Australian cup team. "Australia must change her Davis cup tactics."

Patterson added that "the dash and fleetness of foot shown by the Americans were something our coming players could well emulate."

Golder served as an ensign in the naval aviation service during World War one and reenlisted as a captain shortly after the outbreak of World War II. Later he was promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel and assigned to the staff of Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey before Little 1947 is "our baby," inheriting our virtues and our failures. His training will be in our hands.

If we will pound a little sound sense into him early and ground him in the principles of the Golden Rule, the boy may bring us much happiness and prosperity.

On the other hand, if we teach him no higher code than that of "grabbing while the grabbing is good," he may turn out badly and kill the Golden Goose for us. We have had plenty of experience. We ought to be able to make 1947 a good year. Let's hope we do.
